Street Superintendent Herbert H. Hallett was called to the Bert Hawke home on the Downieville highway Thursday forenoon to take care of a yearling fawn that had been killed. Upon examination it was found that the hind quarters had either been eaten by a coyote or dog, the little carcase being badly mangled. After examining the animal Mr. Hallett buried it.

HISTORIC PHONE EXHIBIT WILL MARK BIRTHDAY

Forty years ago, Nevada City pioneers visited what was then the new Telephone office and inspected the little switchboard which had just been installed. Next week Telecompany employees will celebrate the fortieth anniversary of this exchange, by holding Open House in their present-day headquarters, with its present-day equipment, at 318 Broad street.

The public reception will be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, from 1 to 8:30 p. m., according to Miss K. Kinkead, who is resident manager of The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Miss Kinkead, as spokesman for the Telephone people said, "We hope to have the pleasure of welcoming everyone in Nevada City to our open house. The telephone exchange has played an important part in Nevada City's colorful history, and visitors will see displays which illustrate telephone progress during the past half-century.

"The various features of the central-office equipment, will be explained to visitors by local telephone employees, who will be hosts and hostesses for the occasion."

YELLOW JACKETS AND GRANT TEAM IN GRID CLASH

Coach Bev Barron's Nevada City Yellow Jackets will play Grant Union high school's B team, of North Sacramento this Saturday at 2:15 on Cashin's Field. Injuries seem to be dogging local boys' footsteps now, with Robins and Stevens on the doubtful list, though Stevens may get in Saturday's game. At this writing it looks as though Doolittle, Steger, Pratti, Tuttle, Tobiassen, Jones, Wilde, Ralls, Bennett, Younkin, and A. Widauf would start the game for Nevada City. The admission prices for the game will be: adults, 30 cents; students, 20 cents; and grammar school children, 15 cents. It is expected that the game will be close and hard-fought and a large crowd is sure to turn out for the game.

NON PARTISANS WILL BE ASKED TO BACK MERRIAM

J. F. Colley, chairman of the County Central Republican Committee, will preside this evening at a non-partisan meeting in Serra hall, Grass Valley. The purpose of the meeting is to promote the candidacy of Frank C. Merriam for governor. It is an effort to draw together all those non-partisan elements in the county, who fear election of Sinclair, and who supported, Young, Creel Quinn, or other candidates who were defeated in the August primary.

Mr. Colley has the distinction of being the only county Republican committeeman to qualify for the office in the August primary. He states, however, that the other members of the committee will serve until their successors have been elected.

TO OPERATE MILL AT BLACK BEAR MINE

The mill at the Black Bear mine, Grass Valley, California, is being put in working condition to treat ore mined by lessees. The Black Bear, in the Rough and Ready district, has not been active for several months, but will soon go the list of producers, following the letting of underground leases. The mine is owned by Cooley Butler, Los Angeles.

NEW DEAL HENS ADOPT DOUBLE YOKED CODE

William Wasley, Jr., who has a poultry farm just south of Nevada City, has made a most enviable record for himself this season.

It seems his hens have been trying either to keep up with the New Deal or create one of their own. In his deliveries in Nevada City one housewife found nine double yolk eggs in one dozen and another has 11 double yolk eggs in each of two dozen bought in succession. Other poultry men declare this is unfair competition, and are writing mad letters to the President.

Mr. Wasley's mother, Mrs. William Wasley, Sr., found an egg with three yolks in it a few days ago in breaking eggs for cooking.

Slowly the news is getting around and housewives are clamoring for double yolk eggs.

RAILROAD BOARD SAVES MILLIONS FOR CONSUMERS

Reductions in utility rates ordered or authorized by the California Railroad Commission during the past six years are now saving California consumers a total of $24,700,000 a year. This is according to a statement made today by Leon O. Whitsell, President of the Railroad Commission.

The reductions represent savings to rate payers using gas, electricity, water, telephone and other forms of utility service.

"During the past six years the reductions made with approval or by order of the Railroad Commission, with very few exceptions, have been continuing in character," said President Whitsell, "that is to say a reduction once made continues to benefit consumers over a period of years unless a subsequent increase in rates is ordered. In the past six years such increases have been neglible."

"Net savings to consumers by reason of rate reduction orders of the Railroad Commission during the past six years now total $24,700,000 a year. The average cost of the Railroad Commission to the tax payers of the state during the same period has been $470,062 a year.

"QUARTZ" WRITES OF NEVADA CITY'S TOLERANT FOLKS

Editor of the Nugget
Dear Sir:

I'm a sojourner in your beautiful city, and after two months stay nothing would suit me better than to become a permanent resident. I have named this charming section of California "The Valley of the Pines." It's pines, pines, pines for miles and miles, giving out their invigorating and health healing balm. We had great pleasure hunting the great mines that turned out millions and millions of dollars, so coyly are they hidden away, among the children of the forest, the pines. I was surely surprised to see great pines growing almost at the collar of the shafts. Something to write home about, and such gorgeous sunlight and no wind or dust. I have seen the sun in all its whims and vicissitudes in various climes but nothing to equal it here. It really seemed like a dispensation in favor of this loveliest part of the Great West. And such an ideal location below the deep snows of the Sierras and above the fog of the valleys, and such courteous, civil, and tolerant people. I say "tolerant," one of the most beautiful words. The desire and ability to overlook and forgive our unintentional deficences.

I came here threatened with the "con" and a pain in my side. My wife said "a pain nothing" and that I was trying to turn a sandy on her. It was nothing but a stitch, and said that her third husband got rid of such complaint by the very liberal use of the old buck saw. Then she went and ordered three cords of live oak, put a new blade in the frame and told me to dig in. That's just like a woman. Anyhow I feel better now and this heart racking incident was the only thing that marred my pleasure and happiness during my sojourn among you lovely people. The climate did it all.

A half period assembly was held at the high school Wednesday morning for the purpose of hearing prospective yell-leaders try out. Those who were initiated into the art at the assembly were: Warneke, Dick Sherrill, and Harleth Brock. Each of the boys gave several yells, assisted by Ray Wilde, head yell leader. The successful nominees will be appointed by the executive council and will lead at the football game with Grant Union high school, Saturday.

E. C. Jacobs has been in Denver, Colorado, for several days, in order to hasten shipment of the parts needed in the mill, which have held up mining for a short time.

As the big mill goes into production the men that have been laid off will be re-employed.

LAVA CAP MILL HANDLES 250 TONS ORE DAILY

U. S. TRANSIENT LOAD HEAVIEST IN CALIFORNIA

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 4.—Taking the huge load of relief for non-residents off the shoulders of state, county and private institutions, the Federal Government has provided aid for a total of 141,764 individuals indigent transients in California during the first nine months of its existence in this state, from December 1, 1933, to August 31, 1934, according to a report for the period completed here today by the Federal Transient Service.

In assuming the entire responsibility for the care of destitute transients, or persons in need of aid who have lived in California less than a year, the Government Transient Service took on the heaviest assignment here found in any state, the monthly case load of non-resident indigents aided here averaging from ten to twelve per cent of the entire nation, the report revealed.

Out of the total number of transients assisted during the period, the largest proportion were unattached men and boys, 116,780 itinerants of this class receiving aid. The number of unattached women and girls was much smaller, totaling 1,298, but men, women and children in non-resident families were assisted in large numbers, registrations for the nine months totaling 23,686.

The heaviest registration of wandering men and boys was reported from the San Bernardino area, with a total of 31,431 for the period. The Los Angeles area was next with 23,453, followed by Stockton with 10,289; Sacramento 8937; and Oakland 8,934. By transferring these men and boys as rapidly as possible from city shelters to outlying mountain and work camps, vital assistance was given population centers of the state in getting idle jobless off city streets, according to the report.

SUGAR LOAF GRADE

Supervisor C. S. Arbogast is having Sugar Loaf grade scarified, bladed and shaped up for oiling. The Marysville Tractor Company gave a free demonstration of what their tractors will do, Thursday.

When completed the Sugar Loaf grade will have the same surface as the road to the Murchie mine.

GOOD CCC BOYS TO SEE COLLEGE PACIFIC GAMES

Captain Waldo Telfer and 25 CCC boys from the Tahoe Ukiah camp, northeast of Nevada City, are to leave for Stockton early Saturday morning, where they will be the guests of the College of the Pacific. They will witness a football game between the freshmen team of the College of the Pacific and Mare Island Marines.

Captain Telfer wrote Dr. Tully Knoles, telling him of the fine morale of his boys and the splendid way they conducted themselves in camp, and in reply the college president wrote that he had directed the athletic instructor to admit the boys to every home game. Captain Telfer set up a certain standard for his boys to live up to, in order to be able to attend these games.

Plans have been made for a group of 25 CCC boys to witness seven home games, or all freshmen and varsity games at the College of the Pacific this season.

A group of CCC boys, under Captain Telfer, were guests of the state fair association and visited the state fair this fall.

LOGS FOR SCOUT LODGE STORED AT ARBOGASTS

At the meeting of the building committee of the Scout council Monday evening, plans for the erection of the log lodge for Nevada City Boy Scouts were discussed, and it was finally agreed that the logs cut and stacked at the city's airport last spring should be moved and stored at the saw mill of the Arbogast brothers at Blue Tent.

Chairman Horace Curnow enlisted the good offices of L. W. Lobdell, who on Wednesday sent three trucks and three men to move the logs from Cement Hill to Arbogasts' sawmill. Curnow expressed the appreciation of the Scout council for this generous contribution of labor and equipment in moving some 225 logs. It is reported that several of the logs have been stolen.

The logs will be left at Arbogasts' mill until arrangements for financing the structure are completed. Plans call for the erection of a log lodge 50 feet long by 30 feet wide.

LARGER DRAINS FOR HI BOYS DRESSING ROOM

Plumbers assisted by students were today tearing out old drains and putting in larger ones to the boys dressing room at the Nevada City high school. Owing to the large number of students the high school must now accommodate the dressing room facilities are crowded, and constant use of the showers during recreation and exercise periods proved too much for the old drains.

SINCLAIR PAST HIS PEAK

The novelist candidate for governor of California is declining. He is losing to Merriam and Haight. Home owners everywhere are aroused to battle for what they have little by little accumulated by unremitting toil and careful planning.

The appeal of this novelist candidate to save the jobless and breadless of California, does not, to be sure, fall on deaf ears. But when he numbers these as "millions." To put it mildly, he is using words as he is accustomed to use them as material for fiction. There are no millions of jobless in California. There are some scores of thousands undoubtedly. Normally there are thousands in California and elsewhere, who are always on the economic border line, in and out of employment.

Last reports from Los Angeles were that some 6000 families were on relief. Multiply that number by five and we have 30,000 men, women and children, who are receiving charity. And Los Angeles is where most of California's needy are centered.

The reason so many need relief there, is largely Mr. Sinclair himself. He has promised a land of milk and honey to all the jobless. People without jobs are pouring into Southern California at a tremendous rate. They are coming to California, first because of Sinclair's promises of work in State land settlements or in State operated factories. And why wouldn't they? Why not take a chance on moving to California if they have so little to lose, that losing it sooner or later they might as well be in California as in the drought stricken Middle West. Second, the long years of advertising Southern California's salubrious climate by Los Angeles Chambers of Commerce, as suited to winter nudist colonies, is now bearing fruit abundantly.

Sinclair's nation-wide heralding of an immediate Utopia, which he promises to establish, and the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce fifty years of ballahooing Southern California climate are bringing hords of non-taxpayers, thriftless and shiftless, and worthy but destitute persons, into Southern California. Through that filter, we in Northern California, may expect to receive a large proportion of those needing assistance. Those who have any money will be separated from it, and then wafted north over the Tehachipi or elsewhere.

And this is the main reason Sinclair is over his peak. His vote in November may be somewhat larger than in August, but legions in Southern California who do own their own homes and are now taxed enormously to support these invading hosts of Utopia seekers, are turning sour on Mr. Sinclair, the novelist.

It is a safe conjecture that the vote Mr. Sinclair is losing will not go to Mr. Merriam. People may swing from one extreme to another, but the polar distance between the novelist and his fellow carpet bagger, Merriam, is too great to be bridged in four weeks.

Every day that passes now finds Raymond L. Haight looming larger as the probable governor of California. Fifty California newspapers are solidly behind Haight. Democrats and Republicans, who see nothing but a class war ahead in the event of either Sinclair or Merriam's election are resolutely turning to Haight as the only way out of a dreadful dilemna.

Man and Beast

He was a clever mucker,
And out of the east one day,
A cousin came to look at the west
In the easterner's usual way;
"Show me a mine," she commanded,
So he led her out to the shaft,
And they dropped straight down for a thousand feet
While she nervously tittered and laughed.

Exploring the lower levels,
They entered a narrow stope;
"So this is the glittering palace,"
She scoffed, "of a miner's hope;
"Where is the gold? I see none,
And show me a hanging wall;"
"Us can't do that," said the mucker,
"Some bloomin' bloke let un fall."

"What is that long eared monster?"
She cried with a brace of squeals,
"Im'e's a jack," said the mucker,
"An' you'd better watch out for 'is 'eels;"
"Is he chewing gum?" asked the lady,
"Tobaccy," the mucker replied,
And offered his plug to old Jasper
To prove that he had not lied.

"How absolutely disgusting!"
She cried as she turned away;
"I've had enough of your underworld
To last for many a day."
Said the mucker, ' 'E 'as bad 'abits,
The ornery, mean old lim' ;"
Then the mucker winked at the jackass
And the jackass winked back at him.

So she rode a skip to the surface,
And now in the cultural east,
She tells most fantastic stories
Of a western man and a beast.
But the mucker keeps on muckin',
And Jasper, the son of a gun.
Is well content for he gets his chaw
When the toil of the day is done.

Stand Fast—America!

By Den Walters

STAND Fast—America!

Take a firmer grip on those rights and privileges as American Citizens bequeathed to all of us by the Founders of this Republic.

American patriots, led by courageous General Washington, fought to establish here, a country of free men. At Valley Forge, at Bunker Hill and on scores of other battlefields, American Colonists sacrificed their lives that Freedom might be established for all time in these United States.

At Gettysburg, at Vicksburg, at Appomattox and other battlefields, the descendants of these Colonists and the fathers of our own generation sacrificed their lives to maintain our American heritage of liberty.

Now—in 1934—that liberty is threatened again!

There are now in Ame.ica twice the number of Communists that were in Russia when Communism overthrew the government of that country!

The right of men to work, to own property, to establish homes, to worship according to the dictates of their own conscience is in jeopardy—TODAY, here in America!

Plans are proposed by which the newspapers of the land would be muzzled—subject to the dictates of a government bureau!

Plans are proposed and are openly advocated through which all business enterprises would be actually operated by or under the control of political appointees. Provisions of the Constitution of the United States are to be set aside—and not by a vote of the people as provided for by the Founders of the Republic.

How far this tendency may go is evidenced by the growth of dictatorship in Europe.

Here in America—thank God—we still can vote. But DO we?

In the recent California primary—the "hottest" of its kind in many years—about sixty per cent of those qualified to vote actually went to the polls!

There lies the danger to your liberty and mine! Americans of this generation still have the opportunity to save their country by ballots instead of bullets.

STAND FAST, AMERICA, AND CAST YOUR BALLOTS.

ONE LEGISLATIVE HOUSE IS NEW PLAN STUDIED

BY RALPH H. TAYLOR

Numerous schemes have bobbed up in recent months for reorganization of the California State Legislature, some prompted by an honest desire to increase legislative efficiency—others apparently designed to overthrow the present balance of power between rural and urban districts.

Most recent of the myriad reorganization proposals is the socalled Unicameral system, or OneHouse Legislature, now under study by the Commonwealth club of San Francisco.

Under this plan, advanced on the theory that it would prevent deadlocks between houses and greatly expedite legislature action, there would be a single house of perhaps 50 or 60 members, instead of the present Senate and Assembly structure.

Although the definite plan of legislative representation has not been determined, part of the membership under the One-House plan would be selected on a population basis and the remainder on a territorial or area basis. The vital question, insofar as agriculture is combined, is the representation to be given rural areas.

Agriculture, the state's basic industry, has too many vital legislative problems at issue to submit to any program which would give the metropolitan areas absolute control of the Legislature. At any system of representation in a One-House Legislature would be likely to give such control to the cities.

Under California's present legislative set-up—the so-called "federal plan," fathered by the state-wide farm groups—the Assembly is apportioned on a population basis and therefore city-controlled, while the Senate, districted on a basis of area, is responsive to the needs of agriculture and the "back-country."

While there are admitted imperfections in the present plan, it does, at least, provide a balance of power as between rural and urban area. If legislation, which is unfair and inimical to the metropolitan districts, passes the Senate, it is certain of meeing stubborn opposition in the Assembly. And if the Assembly passes bills which are destructive of agriculture, they are certain to come to a halt in the rural-controlled Senate.

But in a One-House Legislature, the group with the greatest number of votes will dominate—and there will be no court of appeal, save, perhaps, in the Governor's office. And in most instances, in all frankness, the cities would dominate the Governor, inasmuch as they have the greatest voting power.

The Unicameral system, at least from the agricultural standpoint, has little to recommend it.

Still another proposal which is up for consideration calls for a Legislative Advisory Committee, composed of a committee of legislators and members of the Governor's staff, to meet between legislative sessions and map out legislative programs. The theory of this proposal is that much hasty legislation would be avoided and that mature consideration could be given to major issues.

But at the foundation of all legislative problems is the question of voter-interest. Regardless of the system employed, there will be little improvement in the output of the California State Legislature until the voting public takes a hand in the matter.

Nor is the fault solely with the men sent to the Legislature. Beyond that, it is with the voters who elect the legislators. There must be less of selfishness on the part of the various districts and various businesses and industries of the state—more interest in the other fellow's problems!

An intelligent, alert voting public can correct California's biennial output of legislation. But no system can correct it, unless there is a new spirit of cooperation and a new desire to pull-together for the good of the whole state. At the bottom of bad legislation is selfishness—not faulty procedure!

The attractive appearance of your home or place of business fails to register with the passerby if he is compelled to pick his way precariously over your broken and uncared-for sidewalk.

Dilapidated sidewalks are a public nuisance; they menace life and limb, and may involve their owners in expensive damage suits. They should disappear before the tide of rejuvenation that is flooding the communities of Nevada County.

Neglected fences, sagging gates, and wrecked sidewalks have no place in our civic plans for creating a town and county beautiful.

Materials just received by the Nevada County Lumber Company are suited to your building needs. If you have sidewalk or other problems, call or phone.

...that's why both heavy-haulers and light are changing to the new Ford V-8

"It cost us plenty," writes an Oklahoma transfer company, "to believe that only large, high-priced trucks were suited to our business."

The country-wide swing to the new Ford V-8 Truck by users of "Big equipment" is one of the most convincing endorsements a truck has ever had. It is evidence you should look into regardless of what your trucking problem may be.

The new Ford V-8 actually meets 90% of all trucking requirements. Get the facts yourself from haulers in this section. "Power enough for almost any load." "Makes faster time." "Mudholes can't stop it." "More speed on hills." "No trouble with brakes or clutch." That's what these local Ford-users will tell you.

This sounds like high-priced trucking. But we want you to check cost-sheet figures for gas, oil, repairs, replacements. They show that the new Ford V-8—one of the lowest cost trucks you can buy—actually operates at a lower ton-mile cost than a "4"!

"THE MAGIC FUEL"
FOR FIREPLACE, FURNACE, HEATER AND WHEREVER SOLID FUEL IS USED

Pres-to-logs are the ideal fuel. They are clean; easily handled and stored; they make no soot and little smoke; form almost no ash; make no sparks; burn long and steadily; give great heat; and furnish their own kindling.

Each log measures 4 by 12½ inches and weighs about 8 pounds. Pres-to-logs are made by compressing dry ground wood under the tremendous pressure of 10 tons per square inch. This welds the particles into a solid log more than 3 times as dense as wood.

It's easy to start a fire with Pres-to-logs. Just split them crosswise into wafers for kindling, or into any lengths desired.

Pres-to-logs are economical. Almost nothing is wasted in smoke and ash. Very little draft is needed. They burn slowly and steadily, giving forth an intense heat.

The machine, which makes Pres-to-logs under such terrific pressure, was perfected only after long and costly experiment. It is fully patented. There is nothing like Pres-to-logs.

LUCKY THIRTEEN AT DOWNIEVILLE TO RESUME WORK

The Lucky Thirteen Mining Company, Downieville, California, is engaged in the development of two properties in that section, one a gravel and the other a quartz proposition, says the September Mining Journal. During recent weeks a nine-room headquarters building and large bunk house were erected, two compressors installed and active development started. Power is provided by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company. The Lucky Thirteen, formerly owned by Dan Couglin, of Nevada City, has been dormant for nearly 30 years, although worked by former operators to a tunnel depth of about 1,500 feet. The quartz property, the Wild Yankee, is said to be showing good milling values. The present operators and owners state that they expect to be in a position to justify installation of mill and auxiliary equipment before the first of the year. B. F. McNaught is mine superintendent, employing 15 men in the current work.

MRS. TEMPY VEST, OF CAMPTONVILLE, DEAD

DARING RIDERS OF WILD WEST ON SCREEN TONIGHT

Friday night John Wayne makes his appearance at the Nevada Theater in "Randy Rides Alone."

In this newest version of life on the frontier, Wayne affords his many followers many uneasy moments as he goes through harrowing experiences in endeavoring to uncover a band of outlaws that has been making things unpleasant for Ed Rogers at the Half-Way House.

Climaxing this thrilling portraval of the great outdoors is a chase that shows Wayne not only a master in the art of riding, but also a swimmer of note. For he eludes his pursuers, the sheriff's posse, and leads them to the lair of the outlaws, only after a perilous swim through the rocky waters of a mountain stream.

Appearing opposite Wayne in the leading feminine role is Alberta Vaughn, while others in the cast are George Hayes, Yakima Canutt, Earl Dwire, Arthur Ortega and Tex Phelps.

Saturday brings the play, "You Belong to Me" to the screen. "You Belong to Me", is the story of a couple of second rate vaudeville performers, played by Lee Tracy and Helen Mack, who are brought to realize their mediocrity and sham by the faith of a little boy, David Jack Holt. This little lad will capture your heart by his faith in his mother's fineness, and his father's ability.

The prize ring, at its best and its worst; the tinsel and false glitter that too frequently delude ambitious fighters; the tragedy of disillusionment and shattered hopes; the tense action of battle; the trickery and machinations of the "game"—all are shown in the remarkable Warner Bros., picture, 'The Personality Kid," which shows here at the Nevada Theater Sunday.

No better star could have been selected than Pat O'Brien for the fighting palooka, who fell for flattery and women, and required every kind of a knock-out, in the ring and in life, to make him understand that the one person who really loved him was the wife he had deserted.

Glenda Farrell has the finest role of her career as the wife who fights a losing battle with Claire Dodd, again the polished society "vamp", who found a new thrill in making the handsome young fighter jump at her command.
